
The generative model is treated as untrusted: integrity-critical language is accepted only when it equals the evidence-derived surface.